Agnew Equine - a 7-vet, independent, 100% ambulatory practice based in Biddulph Moor covering much of Staffordshire, Cheshire and Derbyshire, are looking for a colleague with an interest in lameness to continue the expansion and development of the orthopaedic side of the practice. You will be given clinical freedom but will work closely with Stuart Pearson - a certificate holder in orthopaedics and an experienced and respected lameness vet.

Our clients encourage (and expect) cases to be worked up properly creating an invigorating clinical environment to work in. This is an excellent opportunity for the right candidate to continue their clinical development with a predominantly orthopaedic caseload.

From our practice based in the countryside of Staffordshire in Biddulph Moor - travelling to our appointments is scenic and offers easy access to the Peak District and all that it offers. Being close to the M6 gives us access to motorway links, meaning cities like Manchester, Liverpool, Leeds and Birmingham are within easy reach for shopping, night life or airports.

We provide out-of-hours services (emergency only) to our clients, but we also prioritise a healthy work/life balance for our team (who love long weekends!) so our on-call duties are generously compensated for.

If you have a positive and confident outlook and would like to be out on the road working for a practice that will broaden your orthopaedic and overall experience and empower you to see cases through - then this role could be for you!

If you have any questions call Stuart Pearson on 07747 764032 and if you would like to join our friendly and supportive team, please apply by sending an email/your CV to jenny.pearson@horsevets.co.uk or visit www.horsevets.co.uk
